

GASHED HIS HEART.

But the Doctors Sewed It Up and He Will Recover.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean reports a most remarkable piece of surgery, at Provident Hospital, Chicago, a few nights ago. The patient, a strong, young colored man, had got mixed up in a street brawl, and was stabbed in the left breast by an assassin who wielded a sailor's knife. When brought to the hospital the injured man was very weak from shock, internal hemorrhage, and loss of blood, and by the attendants he was thought to be dying. The doctors saw at a glance that his condition was most alarming.

On examination it was found that the wound in the left breast was a diagonal cut about four inches long, between the fifth and sixth ribs. There was also every indication that the cut was very deep, and it puzzled the surgeons not a little to see the man still alive when it appeared probable that the knife had reached his heart. Everything possible to secure rest for the patient was done, and preparations were made for an operation early on the following morning.

On account of the unusual interest attaching to the operation, which was for injury to the heart and pericardium, Dr. Williams notified other members of the profession and a large attendance followed. A score or more of surgeons, anxious to witness the operation and note the result, were present in the interests of science. The heart being involved in the injury, the patient was not etherized, but anesthesia was produced by the use of chloroform. Then he was taken from the wheeled bed and placed on the operating table, Dr. Williams and his assistants, clad in white gowns tied around the waist, and the trained nurses on whom so much depends at such critical times, were ready for the ordeal. The doctors were gathered about like observers at a comic.

The operation did not last very long, but it was most delicate as well as daring. The wound was carefully opened and the walls were held apart while the surgeon dexterously removed parts of two ribs. Then deeper explorations were made, but with the utmost care, until at last the unconscious man's heart was laid bare. It was found that the pericardium had been cut with the murderous knife, and that the point of the weapon had actually punctured the heart itself. The wound was, in fact, of such character that few surgeons would have hesitated to pronounce it fatal.

But in this case the patient's condition seemed to be in his favor; neither his temperature nor his pulse was extremely high. With dexterous hands the surgeon explored every part of the wound, while he proceeded with the greatest delicacy and caution to dress the injury and close the cut in the pericardium. Vessels that had been severed were secured with artery clamps and tied with ligatures of catgut. A call for sutures was then made, and, after every precaution had been taken, the wound itself was partially closed at the outer surface. A small rubber tube was left in the wound for a few days, which served to drain off into the outer dressings all fluid exudations. Since the operation, which took place on July 9, the healing process has been going on admirably, and the patient gave every indication of recovery.

All Along the Line.

Is heard the praise of Dr. Hale's Household Ointment. Mrs. I. S. Jacobs, of Farmington, Me., writes that she suffered five years with various veins and two running sores on her leg, and was completely cured by its use. D. S. Filley, Salisbury, Vt., writes, "We cannot do without it; it relieves my sister of asthma at once; it cures a burn or hurt of any kind almost instantly." Under date of May 30, 1892, R. H. Simpson, Le Roy, N. Y., writes: "I used Hale's Ointment for rheumatism three years ago and have not been troubled since. It is the finest ointment in the world for general use; 25c. and 50c. per box. A farmer away down in Somerset County, Md., finds that his straw is worth more than his wheat. He produced 630 bushels of wheat on 33 acres or about 19 bushels to the acre, which at the price ruling when the calculation was of $15 per bushel, the crop a value of $15 per acre. His straw weighed two tons per acre, and was worth $8 per ton, or $16 per acre. The aggregate value of the grain was $493; of the straw, $528.

GENERAL NEWS.

The low price of silver has caused the shutting down of the big silver mines in Colorado and nearly all of the silver mines and thrown thousands of men out of work. Large numbers of these have congregated in Denver and are being fed by the people. There is some fear that the unemployed may organize for robbery and loot the town. Thousands have been brought East free of charge by the railroads, but their places are filled as fast as they leave Denver by others coming from the mines.

Great numbers of grasshoppers have taken possession of the Choctawhatchee valley in Alabama. They first appeared in Georgia but have now spread into Alabama and are doing much damage. All the crops are destroyed by them without distinction. The efforts to get rid of them are entirely unsuccessful.

The white-cappers tried at Birmingham last Saturday were given heavy sentences in every case. Six men from Ciesbura County who beat the Clifton family and shot off Mrs. Clifton's foot received a sentence of six years in the penitentiary and a fine of $500. Thirteen men from Cherokee County, who beat the Pruitts, were fined $500 and sent to the pen for four years each.

Thieves entered the home of Mrs. R. Ammon in Chicago last Saturday and in broad daylight bound and gagged Mrs. Ammon and robbed her of jewelry worth $2000. The thieves were well dressed and obtained admittance by claiming to be detectives in search of a thief supposed to be hidden in the house.

Under injunction proceedings requiring the World's Fair to open its gates on Sunday, the fair was kept open last Sunday. The attendance was much the smallest of any day since it was opened, being only 12,000.

Secretary Hoke Smith was hung in effigy at a little place called Rome, in Ohio, the other day. The occasion of the hanging was the fact that he had dropped off the pension rolls, a lot of men who had no right to draw pensions.

In Chicago last Saturday an accident of singular shocking and painful nature resulted in the death of the woman injured. As an open street car was approaching the Harrison street bridge a heavy harrowed of never fell from its fastenings above the bridge and transfixed Miss Nellie Reardon who sat near the edge of the car. The lever passed entirely through her body near the groin, and twenty inches beyond, penetrating the back of the seat on which she sat and fastening her to it. The shock rendered her unconscious and she remained in that condition until she was revived in the hospital. She then received absolution from a priest and died from loss of blood in a few minutes after the lever had been removed.

Great excitement prevails around Canton, Miss., over the shooting of Dr. Roubush by his friend young Malcolm Cameron. No clear and authentic account of the shooting has been given but it is said and generally believed that on the night of the shooting Miss Cameron and Dr. Roubush went into the parlor of the Cameron mansion about eleven o'clock. They were there only a few minutes but in the interval it is said that Dr. Roubush attempted to caress her in some manner and young Cameron came in at the door, drew his revolver and fired. Roubush ran and Cameron chased him around the house and back into it again, shooting him three times. Roubush's team was then harnessed up and he was driven nine miles to Canton. Roubush was pierced three times by a 44 calibre ball but survived the trip though he has since died. Cameron will be tried soon.

Tired of life, W. H. Irving of Charles street, Winthrop Beach, Mass., committed suicide last week in Chicago on the lake shore. A partly filled can of powder by his side and the torn and mangled face indicated that the suicide had filled his mouth with powder and then, probably with a lighted match, had caused it to explode. In the pocket of the coat was found a notebook, in which was this information:

"My name is W. H. Irving of Charles street, Winthrop Beach, Mass. In case of accident or serious illness notify Mrs. W. H. Irving, at the above address. Do not send my body home, as my wife has no money to bury it. Don't bury me in a pauper's grave. I have been tired of life for the last two years, but have lived for my baby's sake. I can no longer live. I have to work and am out of money. This world is but a stage, and the curtain has rung down upon one of its main scenes."

A case of remarkable depravity in childhood is reported in Mexico, near Vera Cruz. A boy of eight years being playing with his sister of ten became so enraged with her, that he shot her with buckshot, killing her at once. The young villain will be placed in a house of correction.

Lexington County, S. C., has lately been the scene of one of the most savage and brutal lynchings ever perpetrated. On July 24th, the wife of Arch Sighler, a farmer in that county was raped by three negroes, Will Thompson, Handy Kellogg and Tom Foster. The three were captured singly and taken back to Gaston near the place where the crime was committed, and there were beaten almost into insensibility and then hanged until death took place from strangulation. After the hanging the bodies were each shot to pieces. The three lynchings were perpetrated within twenty-four hours of each other, and when the last was drawn up the others were still hanging on the tree.

Crime and Its Punishment in Different Lands.

Austria is the most lenient to murderers. In the ten years ending 1879 there were 816 criminals found guilty of willful murder in Austria, of whom only twenty-three were put to death.

In France, at the present time, the presiding judge acts as a prosecutor, cross examining the prisoner with the utmost severity, and doing everything possible to make him contradict himself.

According to old German law any litigant had the right to challenge witnesses, or even the judges, to mortal combat, on the accusation that the evidence was untrue or the judgment unjust.

During the reign of Henry VIII, 71,400 persons were legally executed in England, a large number of whom were inoffensive or unfortunate. In one year 300 beggars were hanged for soliciting food.

In Russia, England, Scotland, Ireland and the United States capital punishment is by hanging, in France by the guillotine, in Spain garrote, in Germany and most other European countries by beheading.

Impaling was used as a punishment in Turkey up to 1855. The last men impaled were four Arab Shiaks, who had rebelled. They were impaled at the four corners of the Bagdad bridge. One of them lived nine days.

Among the Saxons a person accused of crime could clear himself by means of compurgators, that is to say, he induced twelve persons to come in and swear to his good reputation and that they did not believe him guilty.

Some tribes of North American Indians punished matricides by hanging them by their hands to the limbs of a tree, at a height just sufficient to permit the wolves to reach them from the ground. They were then left to be eaten alive.

The maximum "murder will out" is disproved by statistics. In the ten years ending with 1888 there were 1796 murders committed in England and Wales and in 1094 of these cases no trace of the criminal was ever found that led to his apprehension.

A peculiarly severe punishment in use among the Chinese is the loss of sleep. The criminal is kept awake by his guards until he dies. The sufferer sometimes lives two weeks under the torture, and almost always becomes a raving maniac.

According to the latest available returns, Russia has the largest prison population, 108,840, next comes India with 76,510, Italy with 68,825, Japan with 64,828, France with 60,836, the United States with 50,253, and Great Britain with 30,474.

The last instance of boiling to death took place in Persia in 1840. The offender was guilty of stealing state revenues, was put in a large cauldron of cold water, which was slowly heated to the boiling point. His bones were distributed, as a warning, among the provincial tax-collectors.

The Chinese punish atrocious crimes by incising the criminal in an iron cage, his head passing through an opening at the top at such a height that his knees are bent and he can neither stand nor sit. Criminals thus punished usually become lunatic through suffering in less than two days.

The guillotine was not invented by the physician whose name it bears. It was in use in Europe from Roman days. Dr. Guimouin merely advocated its use in Paris as a merciful mode of inflicting capital punishment, and was greatly annoyed at the notoriety he attained in connection with it.

The difference between medieval and modern laws consists in the fact that according to the former a crime was committed against the individual who was injured, and the right of redress lay with him; according to the latter, the wrong has been done to the State, which alone claims the right of punishment.

In the England of the sixteenth century stealing above the value of 12 pence, burning a haystack, killing or stealing a sheep, breaking a dyke or bridge, breaking a bank of a fish pond, cutting down a tree in an orchard, and the malicious tearing or degrading the garments of a person in the street were all capital offenses.

According to the authorities, the crimes punishable in this country by death are treason, murder, arson, rape, piracy, robbery of the mail with jeopardy to the life of the person in charge, rescue of a person convicted of capital crime when going to execution, burning a vessel of war, or destroying a vessel belonging to private owners.

In Ashantee parricides are tied hand and foot to stakes driven in the ground near a large ant hill. The ants are then irritated by sticks thrust into the entrance of their dwellings, a guard is set at a respectful distance to prevent rescue, and the prisoner is left to be eaten alive. In forty-eight hours nothing is left of the criminal but a neatly cleaned skeleton.

The punishment of the boat was common in ancient Persia. The offender was placed between two boats, his head projecting from a hole in the end of one of the skiffs. The boats were laid in such a position that the sun shone in his face all day long. He was fed with honey and milk, poured into his mouth and over his face, the mixture attracting myriads of flies. Mithridates was subjected to this awful torture and lived for eight or ten days.

The young man who advertised last week in the New York World to sell himself into slavery to any one who would pay his mother enough every week to live on, received many presents of money and a number of offers of employment. He took a job at the Astor House and gets enough pay to support his mother and himself comfortably.
